Large one is marked "Steel Alloy School Bell", it came from the Kent, Iowa Methodist Church. The 36" bell has both clappers for the "double tone" sound. The Kent Church building was built and bell cast in 1896. According to documented Kent history, the schoolhouse and that bell were constructed the same year. It is believed both bells came from the same company. Both of these bells will be assembled and mounted on wooden bases by auction time. These bells were purchased previously from the Alfred Lucas collection.
